Introduction

- Climate change is the change in our weather patterns that are occurring because of an increase in the earth's average temperature.
- It is also known as global warming.
- Climate change may result from both natural and human causes though the human causes appear to be increasingly responsible for climate change over the past few decades

How do pathogens cause illness?

Pathogens cause illness in three main ways:

- Toxins
Toxins are harmful substances produced by the pathogen that poison the body's tissue and enzymes.
- Reproduction
A rise in the number of pathogens can damage a cell, even causing it to burst. Some pathogens hijack resources that the cell needs to survive.
- Immune response
Sites of infection often become swollen, sore and hot as a result of increased blood flow.
